It came to pass, being the third day, the Hoo Zhurs threw at themselves bouquets of gorgeous hue and odors sweeter than myrrn. But when the third inning had come, there arose from among the Bisons one Gray, known to men as the Human Catapult, and smote the ball with such vigor far into the territory of Hogriever, of Rightfield, that he gat unto himself much glory and three bases. And Hausen, he of the Prussian mustaches and rolling gait, like unto the move-

One View of Corbett.

Manager Dan Shannon, of the Buffalo ball team, while in this city, gave a new view concerning the character and disposition of Prize Fighter Corbett. Shannon was intimately associated with Corbett during several winters and was thoroughly in his confidence. He says that, contrary to the general belief, Corbett was never cut out for a fighter and never was in love with the fighting game. He says that Corbett often told him that he only took to fighting because he saw a chance to make money out of it. Time after time he became moody on the subject, and at such times would burst out with expressions of disgust for the business he was following. In sizing Corbett up Shannon says he was a game fighter, but could not be prevailed upon to take any pride in his work nor enthusiasm in his training exercises. He simply did as he was told, because he realized that success depended upon his doing so, and now that he has been defeated, he says he has had enough and will never enter the ring again.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., July 1.-The locals defeated Kokomo with ease in the opening game of the new Indiana-Illinois League. Warrender had the visitors at his mercy, allowing only six hits and striking out eight men. Nonemacher, for the visitors, was very wild, allowing ten hits and seven bases on balls, Gray, the left fielder on the Terre Haute team, received his base on balls five times out of six times at bat. Terre Haute is in a badly crippled condition at present, owing to the nonarrival of Catcher Vetter. The third baseman is catching, the right fielder playing third and a pitcher in right. The score:

Sunday Games. Special to the Indianapolis Journal

ANDERSON, Ind., July 1.-C. K. McCullough, the president of the old Indiana State Baseball League, has taken an active interest in the reorganization of the new Indiana | Kelley had words with McGarr and was put league for the months of July and August to be composed of gas belt cities. Mr. Mc-Cullough is reported as saying in an interview on the organization: "I do not see any need for excitement over the decision of the Supreme Court in refusing a rehearing of the baseball case. The situation is just as it was before. The baseball people failed to knock out the law. The teams which have been playing Sunday games in the various cities should go right ahead. If there are prosecutions as the result of complaints, it can be easily overcome and the games go on as before. Instead of seiling tickets of admission at the grounds let canvassers be put to work seiling score cards uptown for the game. Let them be sold on the streets just the same as newspapers. The holder of a score card will hold up his card and pass into the grounds. The law is not directed against the game, it is the selling of admission tickets. I do not think the ruling will defeat the organization of the State League." The movement here has been given an impetus by the offer from the Union Traction to give free transportation of the teams to and from the points on their lines in the gas belt. The matter will be finally settled early the coming week. INTERSTATE LEAGUE.

MATCH RACE FOR $15,000

MAY HEMPSTEAD BEATEN TWO LENGTHS BY ADMIRATION.

Mile Contest at Sheepshend Bay Witnessed by 15,000 People-Advance Stakes Won by Thomas Cat.

NEW YORK, July 1 .- Fully 15,000 people journeyed to Sheepshead Bay to-day to see the one-mile match race for $15,000 between he greatest of three-year-old fillies, Admiration and May Hempstead. It was the East against the West and the East won for Admiration came home in a gallop first by two lengths. The time, 1:401-5, was by no means what had been expected, but they fairly flew in the first part, and when they came to the stretch May Hempstead had nothing left to finish with and the strong wind in their faces was too much for the big filly. The first break was not a good one, but in the second one they got away, with Admiration in front. May Hempstead soon had a little the better of it and as they passed the first furlong mark in 11 4-5 seconds she was a head to the good. The pace was hot to the quarter pole, which was reached in 231-5 seconds, and then May Hempstead had a neck the best of it. The pair had a strong wind behind them and they sailed along to the three-furlong mark head and head, passing it in 35 seconds from the start. At the half mile Clawson let out a link on Admiration and before Turner knew it the brown filly was a length to the good. As they rounded the mark at the beginning of the upper turn Admiration was a length and a half in front in 47 seconds, remarkably fast time. The five furiongs mark was reached and passed in 59 2-5 seconds and six furlongs in 1:12 4-5, with no appreciable change in position. Clawson was sitting like a statue on Admiration, while Turner was urging May Hempstead with whip and steel as they straightened out for home. It was a useless attempt, for the further they went the easier Admiration seemed to go and she passed the judges' stand two lengths to the good amid the cheers of the crowd, not even

The other event of the day was the Advance stakes at a mile and three-quarters, in which Ben Holliday was odds-on favorite. Thomas Cat, however, won in a drive, with the favorite in the place. Sum-testants, but furnished a genuine surprise, Dr. Sheppard and Marplot, coupled as an entry, were at 8 to 5, only slightly better played than Crocket at 9 to 5. The other two starters, Meadow Thorpe and Sir Gatian, were held at 9 to 2 each. Dr. Sheppard made the early running, which was then taken up by Marplot. Half a mile from home Crocket moved up. Crocket appeared to have the race at her mercy, when Burns brought Meadow Thorpe up on the outside and, collaring Crocket at the final sixteenth pole, came along and won in a fierce drive by half a length.
